LaSalle Solutions Releases LAMP LOOKUP Mobile App for Android Devices

Chicago, IL, USA – July 13, 2011 – LaSalle Solutions, a leading provider of IT life-cycle asset management services and tools, announced today the release of LAMP LOOKUP, a free application for Android mobile devices that allows users to type, speak or scan a barcode for a serial number or part number of a Cisco product into the app and retrieve relevant data.

Anyone that works on Cisco networks, sells Cisco products or works in the distribution channel representing Cisco will now, through their mobile devices, be able to easily obtain end of life data, including end of service, end of sale and Cisco's recommended migration options, product descriptions from multiple data sources including LaSalle's LAMPSM.

"We are pleased to add another tool in our LAMPSM toolset," said Steven Robb, Vice President and General Manager of LaSalle Solutions. "We feel LAMP LOOKUP is well suited to be an integral part of any company's business processes by providing a quick and easy way to gather useful information when managing the life-cycle of their assets."

LAMP LOOKUP was unveiled this week at Cisco Live 2011, in Las Vegas, Nevada and was selected as one of four finalists in the A&T Foundry/Cisco Cius applications developer contest.
